Description of program

Freedom of expression and the defense of it is undoubtedly one of the constitutional strengths of this country. There are those who say today it is in danger and that during the protests there were incidents where law enforcement officers abused those who peacefully demonstrated. Tim Kaine, a federal senator from Virginia, co-sponsored a bill to prevent the use of military force against peaceful protesters, discussed it with Tsi-tsi-ki Felix.

For the organization "Human Rights Watch", police brutality is one of the most serious human rights violations in the country and exists at the national level and in an institutionalized manner. Last year,

1,099 people died at the hands of the police and these acts are repeated year after year. From Los Angeles to the lawyer Luis Carrillo, who has been defending civil rights for decades, spoke to Tsi-tsi-ki Felix about it.

Description of program

Federal Reserve Chairman Jerome Powell warned that: "Additional fiscal support can be expensive, but it's worth it, if it helps prevent long-term economic damage and leaves us with a more robust recovery."

However, there are those who say that such aid would not necessarily be related to the pandemic that we suffered.

To talk about this we invited the President of the conservative Libre Initiative group Mr. Daniel Garza.

Millions of people in the country continue to have difficulties in applying for unemployment benefits, and the IRS office reminds people that this fund, if it is subject to taxes, the 600 dollars a week of the so-called "cares act" law does not!

However, speaking of unemployment, there are those who believe that for Latinos it is an opportunity to reinvent them in the workplace.

Stella Clavijo, an employment specialist at the Carlos Rosario Charter School in the capital, talks about it.
